

Faculty Application for LA-Supported Courses: Spring 2016

The College of Arts & Sciences is pleased to offer this Faculty Application for Learning Assistants (LAs). Learning Assistants are talented undergraduates that assist the implementation of evidence-based active learning in STEM courses in order to improve student learning. The Provost's LA Initiative provides strategic funding to increase the use of LAs to support adoption of evidence-based instructional practices on campus and improve student success. The STEM Transformation Institute has been charged with administrative operations of the Initiative.

Please fill out one application for each course that is requesting LAs. While each application can represent one instructor, instructor teams are encouraged to apply.

Due to increased demand and efforts to maintain quality experiences for students, LAs and faculty in supported courses, we anticipate that not all requests will be funded for Spring 2016. Thus, we encourage thoughtful research-based applications that will also provide evidence for expanding the Initiative.

Review of Faculty Applications will begin on November 16, 2015 with notifications by December 7th, 2015. Applications submitted after November 16, 2015 will be funded subject to availability of funds.

The call for Fall 2016 Faculty Applications for LAs will occur in February 2016.

Part B: Planned Instructional Design with LAs

The Learning Assistant model is built on the understanding that learning requires students to articulate and defend their ideas. Thus, LA-supported courses provide regular opportunities for students to engage with each other in small groups using challenging curricular materials that help students to get closer to a scientific/mathematical understanding. An LA's primary role is to facilitate these collaborative environments, and funding priorities will go to courses that provide regular guaranteed opportunities for students and LAs to engage in substantial discourse around important content ideas.

Is your class ready for incorporation of LAs? Are you ready?

The following will help you think about the essential elements:

1. Does the course structure provide students with regular opportunities to work together in small groups using conceptually challenging materials?
2. Will LAs regularly facilitate collaboration among small groups of students?
3. Will curricular materials for small-group work be in place by the beginning of the current semester?
4. Will you meet with your LAs every week to help them prepare for working with the content and with students?

Please note, the above factors will be strongly considered when making decisions about how to invest LA resources.

16. Please describe the current instructional design of your course (the last time you taught it)

17. Have you taught with LAs in the past? Were you awarded LA funding and by whom? (Mark all that apply)

- Yes, I taught with LAs in the past (mention course and when below)
- No, I haven't taught with LAs yet
- I was awarded funding for LAs by the STEM-TI Provost LA Initiative (mention when below)
- I was awarded funding for LAs by the department (mention department below)
- I was awarded funding for LAs by the STEM-TI HHMI Program (mention when below)
- Other (please specify)

* 18. Mark all that apply in regards to your course:

- The course is a critical course or a gateway course
- The course is a multi-section course and I teach one of the sections
- The course is a multi-section course and I teach all sections or most students

Part D: Assessment of LA-reformed Classrooms

The Learning Assistant Program facilitates the implementation of evidence-based practices in the classroom; thus, assessment of the LA-reformed course's impact on student learning, attitudes, and/or success is core to its operation. Faculty implementing LA-supported reform in their classrooms are expected to include appropriate assessments to learn how the LAs have contributed to their class and guide future reform efforts. Faculty are encouraged to save effort by using assessment resources freely available on the web, including conceptual surveys, attitudinal surveys, and student satisfaction surveys (<http://stem.fiu.edu/resources/>). Also, passing rates, embedded exam questions, and other methods offer straightforward assessment opportunities. Faculty are encouraged to contact the STEM Transformation Institute (stem@fiu.edu) for support in developing their assessment plan.

Faculty Applications for LAs include evaluation of prior LA-reformed implementation(s) as part of the award process. Please summarize outcomes from prior LA-reformed courses (if applicable) and your assessment plan for this course.
